

Notes on Contributors

Francisco José Álvarez-Gil (ORCID: 0000-0002-8752-9091) is a lecturer in English language and linguistics at the Department of Modern Philology, University of Las Palmas de Gran Canaria. He also teaches French and English at secondary level in Gran Canaria. His research interests concern the analysis of specialized English from a synchronic and diachronic perspective, corpus linguistics, and language pedagogy at tertiary level.

Department of Modern Philology
University of Las Palmas de Gran Canaria Despacho 23. C/ Pérez del Toro, 1, 35001
Las Palmas
The Canary Islands, Spain
franalvarezgil@gmail.com

Tomasz Basiuk (ORCID: 0000-0001-6637-6105) published on American postmodernism and on gender and queer studies, including Exposures: American Gay Men's Life Writing since Stonewall (2013). He co-edited several volumes of essays on American studies and queer studies. In 2006, he co-founded the online queer studies journal InterAlia. He is principal investigator in a HERA-funded project "Cruising the 1970s. Unearthing Pre-HIV/AIDS Queer Sexual Cultures." Basiuk teaches at the University of Warsaw American Studies Center and heads the UW Institute of the Americas and Europe. He currently serves his second term as president of the Polish Association for American Studies.

Ośrodek Studiów Amerykańskich
Uniwersytet Warszawski
Al. Niepodległości 22
02-653 Warszawa
tbasiuk@uw.edu.pl

Leszek Berezowski (ORCID: 0000-0003-1895-9159) is a linguist specializing in researching English article use and legal translation from English into Polish. He has published two books on the articles (Articles and Proper Names and The Myth of the Zero Article) and four books on legal translation. His other publications include a book on translating dialect, a book on English Christmas traditions and a variety of papers on English article use.

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
Uniwersytet Wrocławski
ul. Kuźnicza 22
50-138 Wrocław
leszek.berezowski@uwr.edu.pl

Anita Chmielewska (ORCID: 0000-0002-3265-4813) is a PhD student at the Institute of English Studies, University of Warsaw. Her research interests include modernist poetry and contemporary British-Jewish literature.

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
 Uniwersytet Warszawski
 ul. Hoża 69, 00-681 Warszawa anita.chmielewska2@gmail.com

Dominika Ferens (ORCID: 0000-0003-4231-1686) teaches American literature at the University of Wrocław, Poland. She holds a PhD in English from the University of California, Los Angeles, and a postdoctoral degree from the University of Wrocław. Her interests include Asian American literature, ethnography and ethnographic fiction, as well as theories of race, gender, and sexuality. She is the author of Ways of Knowing Small Places: Intersections of American Literature and Ethnography since the 1960s (Wydawnictwo Uniwersytetu Wrocławskiego, 2010) and Edith and Winnifred Eaton: Chinatown Missions and Japanese Romances (University of Illinois Press, 2002).

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
 Uniwersytet Wrocławski
 ul. Kuźnicza 22
 50-138 Wrocław
 dominika.ferens@uwr.edu.pl

Sonia Front (ORCID: 0000-0002-9334-6531) is Assistant Professor at the Institute of English Cultures and Literatures, University of Silesia, Poland, where she teaches contemporary literatures in English and film. Her research interests include time and temporality as well as consciousness and neuroscience in twenty-first century fiction and digital cinema. Her last book is a monograph Shapes of Time in British Twenty-First Century Quantum Fiction (2015).

Instytut Kultur i Literatur Anglojęzycznych Uniwersytet Śląski
 ul. G. Roweckiego 5 41-200 Sosnowiec
 sonia.front@us.edu.pl

Maciej Kaczmarczyk (ORCID: 0000-0002-3658-2060) is a PhD candidate at the Faculty of Letters, University of Wrocław. His research interest is in the use of learning strategies, developing linguistic competences and the similarities between languages to speed up the learning process.

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
 Uniwersytet Wrocławski
 ul. Kuźnicza 22
 50-138 Wrocław
 makaczml@onet.pl

Harmony Ki Tak Law (ORCID: 0000-0003-3464-8780) is a recently defended PhD from the Department of Humanities at York University. She, however, comes from a diverse academic background: an Honours Bachelor of Arts in Linguistics and World Religions from the University of Toronto; and a Masters of Arts in Translation Studies from the Glendon campus of York University.

Currently, her interest is in Canadian multiculturalism, particularly from an anti-racist perspective. She is also interested in the artistic and literary expressions of racialized Canadians, particularly as experiential lenses through which individuals' and communities' complex negotiations with social, cultural, and political discourses can be discerned and analyzed. In addition to her research, Harmony Law has taught courses focusing on Canadian Studies and Diaspora Studies, and is also a volunteer member of the Race Relations Committee in the City of Markham, Ontario.

Department of Humanities
York University
262 Vanier College
4700 Keele St.
Toronto ON, Canada
M3J 1P3
harmo62@yorku.ca, harmonyktlaw@gmail.com

Bartosz Lutostański (ORCID: 0000-0001-6345-3275) is an Associate Professor at the University of Warmia and Mazury, Poland. He co-organized five literary conferences in Poland. His publications concern studies on contemporary literature and narratology. His monograph Gombrowicz-Beckett. Beckett-Gombrowicz. A Comparative Inter-Modal Study was published in 2016.

Katedra Filologii Angielskiej Uniwersytet Warmiński-Mazurski w Olsztynie
ul. Kurta Obiży 1 10-725 Olsztyn (Kortowo II)
bartosz.lutostanski@uwm.edu.pl

Paweł Marcinkiewicz (ORCID: 0000-0002-7086-1805) works as Associate Professor at the University of Opole and the Higher Vocational School in Racibórz. His interests focus on American poetry and translation theory, and he is also a poet and translator. He has recently published a monograph on John Ashbery's poetry: "Colored Alphabets' Flutter: John Ashbery and the Twentieth Century American Avant-Gardes."

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
Uniwersytet Opolski
Collegium Maius
pl. Kopernika 11
45-040 Opole
pmarcinkiewicz@uni.opole.pl

Beata Mazurek-Przybylska (ORCID: 0000-0002-0321-7307) is completing her doctoral dissertation on film novelization at Philological School of Higher Education in Wrocław, Poland. Her academic interests include film, translation, and multimodal linguistics. She has published articles on linguistic humour and foreign language teaching.

Wyższa Szkoła Filologiczna
ul. Sienkiewicza 32
50-335 Wrocław
b.mazurek_przybylska@interia.eu

Daniel Pietrek (ORCID: 0000-0002-1582-6070) works as Associate Professor at the University of Opole. His interests focus on German literature of the 20th century and, particularly, the German language literature of Silesia. He is the author of a monograph on the Silesian-German writer Horst Bienek Ich erschreibe mich selbst. (Autor)Biografisches Schreiben bei Horst Bienek, which was awarded the 2014 prize for best biography by the Bavarian Academy of Fine Arts.

Wydział Filologiczny
 Uniwersytet Opolski
 Collegium Maius
 pl. Kopernika 11
 45-040 Opole
 dpietrek@uni.opole.pl

Amanda Roig-Marín (ORCID: 0000-0003-1397-7163), BA (University of Alicante, Spain), MPhil (University of Cambridge), is currently completing a PhD on the multilingual make-up of texts produced in late medieval England. Her main research interests include both historical and present-day language contact, Middle English philology, and manuscript studies. She has published her work in journals such as Neophilologus, Studia Neophilologica, and Notes and Queries.

Selwyn College
 University of Cambridge
 Grange Rd
 Cambridge CB3 9DQ
 United Kingdom
 adr41@cam.ac.uk

Katarzyna Rokoszewska (ORCID: 0000-0003-4479-0385) received her PhD degree in applied linguistics from the University of Wrocław (Poland) in 2007. She is an Assistant Professor at the Institute of Foreign Languages at Jan Długosz University in Częstochowa (Poland), where she teaches EFL methodology and SLA courses. She also worked as a teacher at the Teacher Training College in Częstochowa for ten years. Her research interests include various aspects of second language acquisition and methodology of teaching foreign languages, including teaching foreign languages to young learners. Her current research is concerned with analyzing foreign language development on the basis of usage-based learner corpora from the point of view Complex Dynamic Systems Theory (CDST). She has published one monograph and many articles.

Instytut Filologii Obcych Uniwersytet Humanistyczno-Przyrodniczy im. J. Długosza w Częstochowie
 ul. Zbierskiego 2/4 42-200 Częstochowa
 k.rokoszewska@ujd.edu.pl

Corina Selejan (ORCID: 0000-0002-4418-7087) is completing her doctoral dissertation on metafictional academic novels at the University of Bucharest, Romania. Her background is in Anglo-American and German literature, as well as British Cultural Studies. She has published articles on the academic novel, metafiction, film studies, Zadie Smith, David Lodge, Christine Brooke-Rose, Nicole Krauss and Jane Austen. She has co-edited a special issue of American, British and Canadian Studies entitled Fictions of Academia.

Department of Anglo-American and German Studies
Faculty of Letters and Arts
Lucian Blaga University of Sibiu
5-7 Victoriei Blvd.
550024 Sibiu
Romania
corina_hila@yahoo.com

Paweł Stańko (ORCID: 0000-0001-5535-7873) is a graduate of the Philological School of Higher Education in Wrocław. He acquired Master's degree in English Philology with his thesis focusing on the subject of filmic multimodality and multimodal translation, written under the supervision of Professor Michał Post. Currently he works as a translator of English and German and continues to extend the scope of his academic research in the subject of multimodal translation and axiological semantics, which are the main topics of his PhD dissertation he prepares in the Philological School of Higher Education in Wrocław.

Wyższa Szkoła Filologiczna
ul. Sienkiewicza 32
50-335 Wrocław
pawel_stanko@wp.pl

Lech Zdunkiewicz (ORCID: 0000-0002-6735-2989) has been involved in independent and studio film productions since 2008. Currently he is working on a doctoral dissertation under the supervision of Prof. Dominika Ferens on empathy elicitation techniques in Patricia Highsmith's Ripliad at the Institute of English Studies, University of Wrocław.

Instytut Filologii Angielskiej
Uniwersytet Wrocławski
ul. Kuźnicza 22
50-138 Wrocław
molechular@gmail.com