

Contents

AGNIESZKA MATUSIAK, ANDRZEJ POLAK, MONIKA WOLTING (Introduction)
Freedom on the post-totalitarian horizon	9
Escape from freedom?
TADEUSZ GADACZ
Philosophy of freedom	21
KAROL SAUERLAND
We have gone through so many utopias in the last 75 years, and yet utopian thinking is still doing fine!	33
MONIKA WOLTING
Freedom narratives in German literature after 1945	41
KRZYSZTOF OKOŃSKI
“Do you want total freedom of speech?” Culture in Germany at the end of the twenties (21st century) against radicalism, multiculturalism, and ethnic conflicts. An attempt to identify problems	53
MAŁGORZATA ABASSY
Totalitarianism and freedom in the light of cultural paradigms. Contemporary Russia	69
PAULA WÓJCIK
Demons of the past. Bonds of memory and traditions of the Gothic novel	85
ANDRZEJ KOPACKI
Figurations of femininity. Strategies for liberation. A comparative study of novels by Bator, Plebanek, and Gretkowska (in three steps)	97
ADRIAN MADEJ
Literary images of identity in the prose of Andrzej Stasiuk	107
AGATA FIRLEJ
Don Quixotes, Undergrounders, and Revisionists. Central European writers’ attitudes to freedom	121
GABRIELA ABRASOWICZ
Against capitalist (pseudo)freedom. Theatrical manifestos on post-Yugoslav stages	135

Old ideas, new challenges

JAN KIENIEWICZ

Imperialism, colonialism, globalism: old ideas, new challenges 151

KRZYSZTOF BRZECHCZYN

Between Western colonialism and Eastern imperialism. Postcolonial discourse versus developmental trajectory of East-Central European societies in the light of non-Marxian historical materialism 165

TOMASZ NAKONECZNY

In searching for a lost empire. Imperial Poland as a world and an idea 191

Russia and its (post)colonial syndrome

ANDRZEJ POLAK

Internal colonization of Russia from the perspective of Alexander Etkind 213

BOGUSŁAW BAKUŁA

Russian post-colonial discussion in the years 2000–2018 235

Silva rerum

WAWRZYNIEC POPIEL-MACHNICKI

The postcolonial aspect of Bronisław Grąbczewski's perception of the Orient 269

TOMASZ NAKONECZNY

Russian literaturocentrism in the context of postcolonial studies 281

PIOTR FAST

Power — ethics — existence (comments on the novel Fortress by Piotr Aleshkovsky) 303

PAWEŁ ŁANIEWSKI

Zaeldyz. About postcolonial aspects of Egor Radov's Yakutia 313

Reviews, discussions

ГИОРГИ ТАВАДЗЕ

Акакий Бакрадзе, Укращеніе літературы, Тбілісі: Государственный музей Грузинской литературы им. Г. Леонидзе, 2019, сс. 350 331

ANIELA RADECKA

Тамара Марценюк, Чому не варто боятися фемінізму, ред. Оксана Кісь Київ: Комора, 2018, сс. 328 337

Notes on Authors. 343