

in this fight? The spectacular renaissance of aesthetics as “the first science” — in connection with the issue of perception, aesthetic experience, new media, the category of sublimity or allegory neglected by romantics — determines that the question of how much aesthetics there is in aesthetics seems to be the most relevant.